Our pattern of life is like a tapestry
Fashioned with threads of purple and ivory sheen
Which woven form a geometric scene
That brings to mind our early baptistry.
Enfolded there is our life's history.
The woof is courage; the warp, our faith serene;
The color, our daily thoughts. Somewhere between These strands of silk are faults and mystery.
But wait! For us this painted cloth's not done.
Our lives are woven here from day to day
And what we sew adds color to the theme.
Not yet has our great arras been all won.
Don't let our tapestry remain a dream!

Alma Mater

Dear old Zanesville High, we love you,

And for you we'll ever cheer;

And the praises we are singing

Will echo year to year,

Like an old friend ever faithful

We are with you do or die;

You're the right school,

Blue and White School,

Dear old Zanesville High.

With a loyalty unmeasured,

We will guard your honored name;

We will strive with hearts unfailing

To bring you added fame.

Tho' life calls us from our home town,

In our dreams we'll hear the cry,

"You're the right school,

Blue and White School,

Dear old Zanesville High."

"Onward, upward" is our motto

Through the long and happy days;

And the victories we are winning

Will add new praise to praise;

While for you, dear Alma Mater,

We will sing you to the sky,

"You're the right school,

Blue and White School,

Dear old Zanesville High."

BECAUSE Beulah C. Thompson has given of herself so loyally and so long, the 1945 COMUS staff wishes to dedicate this book to her.

Miss Thompson has always been a resident of Zanesville except while attending the Applied Art School of Chicago, Muskingum College, and Ohio University. She began her career at Lincoln School, later taking over the art work in the junior highs. The year Miss Gillespie left high school, Miss Thompson came to take her place. During the last two summers she taught at Muskingum.

She is a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, Business and Professional Women's Club, and the Saturday Literary Club.

In 1938 Miss Thompson founded the Arts and Crafts Club of which she is faculty adviser. This organization is for anyone interested in art. It is not necessary that a member be an art student.

Her brother, Kenneth Thompson, taught chemistry and German in the high school and was at one time adviser of the COMUS. He is now a Major in the United States Army.

The art work in the high school under Miss Thompson's supervision has been outstanding. She has always been willing to accept the responsibility of poster making for Red Cross, War Bonds and Stamp sale drives, magazine campaigns, and any other school or community projects which need illustration.

Miss Thompson has always supervised the art work of the COMUS. This year, since the book is being dedicated to her, we have not asked her to assume this task. Instead we have used the illuminated letter such as was found in medieval manuscripts and the alphabetic theme which the writers of Middle Ages used in their riddles.

Like Malvolio we ask, "What should this alphabetical position portend?" Our answer is that we have tried to present a tapestry of high school life by which to remember not only Miss Thompson, but also this eventful year, trul

CONDOLENCES were sent from the school to the family of Dr. Ward D. Coffman, whose death occurred the second week of school. Dr. Coffman, president of the School Board, took a lively interest in every phase of school life and constantly worked in our behalf. His death has deprived Zanesville of an outstanding and sympathetic citizen.

May He within himself make pure!"

ETERMINING factors in our lives are these faculty members. Our existence they do effect—but definitely! Each morning they appear with sparkling eyes and smiling lips and each evening they leave with drooping lids and downcast mouths. (The problems of the student body had not been solved.) But five times a week these teachers, like Prometheus grown whole again after a night's rest, meet their session rooms with renewed determination.

Our faculty is a well organized and efficient group. Each member conscientiously does his part to make better citizens for the world of the future. For this task every one of the faculty has worked long and hard, as anyone can see by examining the record of degrees held and the college attended. If ever a student needs help, there is a faculty member ready, willing, and able to lend assistance.

At times teachers may seem harsh and impatient, but who wouldn't, dealing with an average of two hundred personalities a day!

Mr. E. D. Cleary, A.B. Ohio Wesleyan; Chicago and Ohio State. Principal of Lash Senior High School

Automobile is his favorite from of transportation. I see he doesn't depend on the buses which are, to quote Mr. Cleary, "Late again as usual."

Mr. E. C. Boggs, B.S. Denison. Assistant Principal.

Being assistant principal should be a nice job. With Mr. Cleary as principal and the two pretty secretaries, there shouldn't be much work for Mr. Boggs.

Mr. R. M. Buxton, B.S. Wooster College; Wisconsin and Ohio State. Dean of Boys.

Capable of dealing with the knotty, naughty problems of boys is Mr. Buxton.

Mrs. Lucy Cranmer Harvey, B.S. in Ed. Ohio University. Dean of Girls.

D is for Dean of Girls and a very efficient one she is.

Mr. Donald F. Summers, B.A., M.A. Ohio State. Superintendent of Public Schools.

'X Teacher; 'X Principal, and at present the BIG BOSS.

Miss Mary Ann McCoy, A.B. Michigan. Secretary to Mr. Cleary.

Yes, one can see why things run so smoothly in Mr. Cleary's office. And they should with such an efficient secretary.

Mrs. B. S. Boyd; Secretary to Mr. Buxton.

Zealously and enthusiastically Mrs. Boyd does her work at Lash High School!

In what other group of people can be found so many and varied activities all woven together into one activity—that of helping one's fellow being. It isn't school alone that they keep, but their abilities are put to work for the community. Not one of them but has an extra-curricular place in the great school of Zanesville life, if not personally, through their teachings.

The teachers, like the great Gobelin weavers, take the many skien of yarn, knotted, smooth, brilliant, dull, raveled, and strong, which are we students, and weave us into the firm fabric of our city's life. They also make us into an arras of Zanesville.

And now, underclassmen, now that you know the good the faculty members do for you, in and out of school, may the trips to the office be fe

Miss Helen L. Arnold, B.A., B.S. in Ed. Ohio State; M.A. Middlebury College. French I and II; Spanish I and II.

"Accentuate the Positive" is what they say. But in Miss Arnold's language classes, don't forget to "Accentuate" the right syllables.

Mr. Joseph Austin, A.B. Denison. Economics and Athletics.

Blue the color of the school and brown (does he mean bruise marks?) are his favorite colors.

Miss Fern Bateman, B.S. in Ed. Ohio State. English II.

Chocolate pie would make Miss Bateman's favorite book, "Leave Her to Heaven," come true.

Mr. B. O. Black, M.A. New York. Bookkeeping I and II.

Discourse is no problem with Mr. Black as he likes "Adventures in Contentment."

Mr. E. C. Boggs, B.S. Denison. Asst. Principal; Physics, Pre-Flight Aeronautics, Refresher Math.

Exactly what variety of cats are dead cats? Ask Mr. Boggs since he prefers them.

Miss Helen Anne Fox, B.S. Ohio State; B.S. in L.S. Denver. School Librarian; Adviser of Lash Librarians Club.

For goodness sakes, Miss Fox likes wine—she means the color.

Miss Adena E. Gift, B.S. in Ed. Ohio University; Ohio State. Typewriting I and II, Stenography I.

Guess red is her favorite color; maybe that's why she likes tomatoes.

Miss Rachael Jennings Higgins, A.B. Ohio University; M.A. Columbia. English III and IV; English Lit.; Adviser of COMUS.

Her staff. Favorite food is beefsteak. Don't tell me she still remembers what it tastes like.

Miss Ruth Louise Horn, A.B. Denison; M.S.P.H. Michigan. Hygiene; Red Cross First Aid; English I and II; Adviser to ZANESVILLIAN.

In a little brown car every summer Miss Horn munches hamburgers while reading "Random Harvest" on her way to U. of Michigan. Busy little beaver, isn't she?

Mr. Paul Hurd, Y.M.C.A. School, Columbus. Automotive.

Just watch those boys repair automobiles under the supervision of Mr. Hurd.

Miss Marguerite M. Kurz, B.S. in Ed. Ohio; M.A. Ohio State. Senior Government.

Kinetic is the word for Miss Kurz. One can't be lazy around her.

Miss Nelle J. Matthews, A.B. Hiram College. World History; U. S. History.

Literally speaking, Miss Matthews is in seventh heaven when she eats chocolate pie. She and Miss Bateman should get together.

Miss Marie Mill, B.A., B.S. in Ed., M.A. Ohio State. English III; Speech; Dramatics.

M a w's gasoline stamps must have rubber in them because they sure do stretch.

Miss Dorothy Miller, A.B. Earlham College. Shorthand I and II; Typing I and II. Adviser to NEWS.

"No!" with an exclamation point is what Miss Miller wrote in answer to the question, "Do you like cats?"

Mr. Ellis B. Miracle, B.S. in Ed., M.A. Ohio State. Supervisor of Industrial Arts; Adviser of Radio Engineers and Usherettes.

Oh, that lucky man with all those beautiful usherettes!

Mr. W. C. Patterson, Indiana Trade Extension School. Aero Repair.

Planes are his specialty, that is, teaching students how to repair damaged aeroplanes.

Mr. Andrew Plant, Florida; Ohio. Aircraft Engines.

Quick to teach the boys what makes airplanes and cars tick. They couldn't fail to learn since they have such a fine instructor.

Mr. J. R. Richards, A.B., A.M. Gettysburg College; B. S. in Ed. Ohio. English; History.

Rather than choosing a book written by someone else, Mr. Richards chooses his Grade Book for his favorite. I imagine many students would like to read that book.

Miss Norma R. Riecker, B.S. Ohio. Glee Club; Harmony.

Spring, they say, is when a man's thoughts lightly turn to love. HMMMMM! Is that why you prefer that season, Miss Riecker?

Miss Fern Rowlands, A.B. Muskingum College; A.M. Boston. English III.

The teacher fondest of American poetry is Miss Rowlands. She says she likes buses!

Mr. Edward Schmid; A.B. Ohio; Ohio State; Western Reserve; Louisville. History; Vocational Adviser.

University of Louisville has a place in his heart.

Miss Josephine Sebach, B.S. Ohio State; M.S. Prince School of Retailing, Simmons College. Cooperative Retailing.

Victory! Her classes work toward this end in everything they attempt.

Mr. George L. Shai, B.S. in Business Adm.; M.A. in Ed. Ohio State. Cooperative Committee Supervisor and Instructor.

With Mr. Shai, who knows fish best, it's "Red Snapper" 2 to 1.

Mr. Lawrence E. Strong, B. S. Coe College; M. of Ed. Pittsburgh. U. S. History; Adviser of Monitors; Latin American History; Economics.

Xochimilco is "The Venice of Mexico" you will learn in Latin American history with Mr. Strong.

Mrs. Douglas Hetzler, College of Music, Cincinnati; Rowe's Conservatory. String Ensemble; Orchestra.

Yuletide and winter snows may be preferred by some but not by Mrs. Hetzler who likes summer and warm breezes.

Mrs. Donald G. Sink, B.S., M.A. Ohio State; B.S. in Ed. Cincinnati. Biology and English.

Zenith is the high point of pleasure Mrs. Sink attains going for a spin on her bicycle.

Miss Louise N. Stewart, A.B. Denison; M.A. Ohio State. Latin I; Business Arithmetic; Junior Business Training; Plane Geometry. Adviser to Stamp and Bond Salesmen.

Arithmetic is needed by every Stamp and Bond salesman Miss Stewart supervises.

Miss Beulah C. Thompson, Applied Arts School of Chicago; Muskingum College; Ohio. Art Supervisor of Zanesville Public Schools; Art IV and V; Commercial Arts; Craft Work; Adviser of Arts and Crafts Club.

Best cooperator on the faculty is her enviable reputation.

Mr. William H. Hanner, A.B. Cotner College. Business Arithmetic; Junior Business Training; Adviser of Devilettes.

"Corny" is what some of Mr. Hanner's jokes were. But still we miss Mr. Hanner and his wit.

Miss Helen Vandenbark, Ph. B. Denison. English III.

Dog, a man's best friend is also Miss Vandenbark's, specially if it is a Boston Terrier.

Miss Katherine Weber, A.B. Diploma in Physical Ed. Oberlin College; M.A. New York; Ohio State; Chicago, Wisconsin, Stanford; Bennington School of Arts, Dancing I and II; Physical Education.

E is for education of which Miss Weber is not lacking.

Mr. Earl M. Wood, B.S. in Ed.; M.A. Ohio. Industrial Arts; Business Manager of Athletics.

Food, especially ham, will make Mr. Wood's mouth water.

Miss Mary E. Wurdack, A.B., M.S. Ohio State. Biology.

Goodness, gracious! Another teacher who likes beefsteak. Well, they can dream, can't they?

Mrs. Ethelwyn B. Seckman, B.S. in Ed. Ohio U. Junior Business Training.

Her favorite form of transportation is walking. It's a good thing too, with gasoline and tires the way they are.

Mr. Vernon Carter, A.B. Earlham; Miami; Muskingum; Ohio State. Phy. Geog.; Comm. Geog.; Ec. Geog.

In his classes a barometer is useful to show weather conditions. Also his pupils are able to plan their activities in advance.

Mr. Paul German, B.S. in Ed.; M.A. Ohio State. World History; Plane Geometry; Debate Coach.

Jeepers! Can't these teachers think of anything but beefsteak? And red points practically as scarce as hen's teeth.

Mr. James R. Giffen, A.B. Ohio State. Chemistry.

Knowledge of chemistry Mr. Giffen has and he carefully explains it to his classes—and with good reason. After all he doesn't want to be responsible for Z. H. S. being blown to pieces.

Miss Margaret Louise Hook, B.S. in Ed., Columbia. Clothing; Homemaking; Victory Round Robin.

Lucky girls who are members of Miss Hook's classes, being taught the importance of sewing and homemaking.

Miss Grace M. Kaplan, B.A. Seton Hill College. Latin II, III, IV; Adviser of D.O.Z.

Myths of Greece and Rome. Are you interested in such things? If so, see Miss Kaplan as she can tell you all about them.

Miss Lucy Martineau, Thomas School of Home Ec.; Chicago. Foods, Clothing; Victory Round Robin.

N is for nutrition, an important factor in our lives today and something which Miss Martineau teaches her girls.

Dr. Jesse J. Pugh, B.S., M.A., Ph. D. Ohio State.

Oh that man! Girls, have you ever noticed his resemblance to Charles Boyer?

Mr. Norris F. Schneider, B.S. in Ed. Ohio State; M.A. Columbia. English IV; English Literature.

Particular about giving information is Mr. Schneider.

Mr. George A. Schooley, A.B. Muskingum College; Pittsburgh; Ohio. U. S. History; Comm. Law; Adviser of Fellowship.

Q is for "Questions" which the boys ask Mr. Schooley. Seems he knows all the answers, too!

Mr. Myrl M. Shamp, B.S. in Ed. Ohio. Physical Ed.; Intramurals; Adviser of Leaders Club; Drill Master; Victory Corps.

Robust bodies are his specialty.

Mr. James T. Walker, B.S. Ohio State. Agriculture; Senior Science.

Seems he's not particular about any one food. He just likes plenty of "it."

Miss Grace Wigton, A.B. Wittenberg College; M.A. Ohio State. Algebra I and II; Solid Geometry; Trig.

Triangles, and all geometric figures play a great part in her teaching. Oh to have such knowledge!

Mr. George M. Blaho, B.S. in Ed. Ohio; Training in Minn. Band.

Unanimous applause for Mr. Blaho's efforts as shown by the Lash Band.

Mr. A. W. Ormiston, B.S. Ohio. Metal working.

Valuable to the school is the new metal-working department under the direction of Mr. Ormiston.

Mrs. H. T. Burmham, Ohio State.

Worked diligently to explain to her students problems of Arithmetic and Jr. Business Training.

Mr. George Vlerebome, B.S. Muskingum. Physical Education, Algebra, Line Coach.

X marks the spot and also Mr. Vlerebome's first year of teaching at Lash.

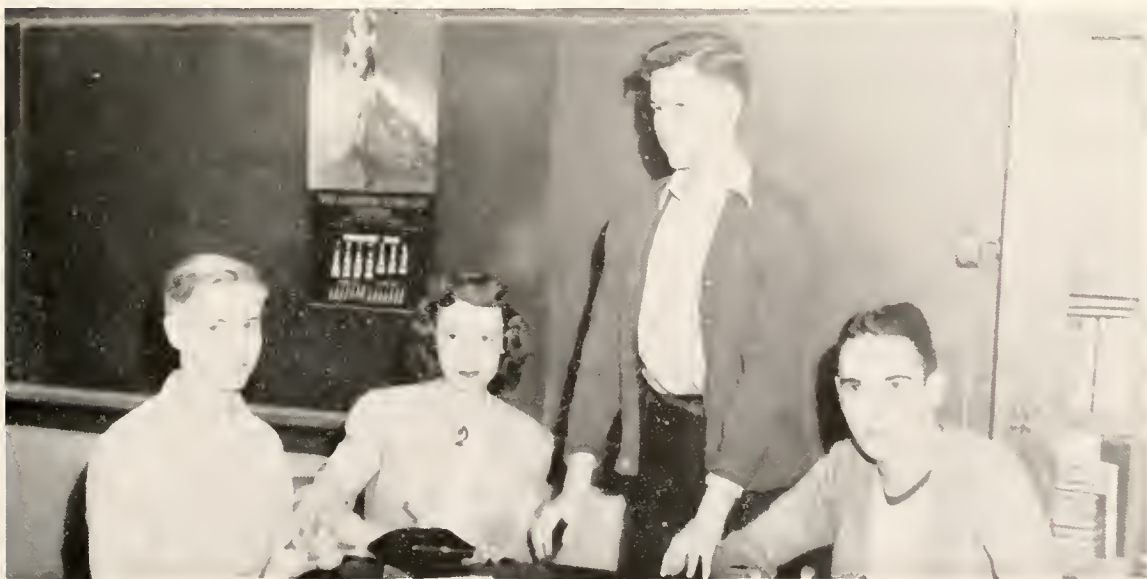

EVERY lassie has her laddie, but not in this Senior Class because we're afraid Uncle Sam wanted the lassie's laddie first. Other than this inconvenient shortage of men, this class of 1945 has not differed much from other senior classes. Our colors as far as we know when COMUS went to press are pink and lavender. The pink is the lovely color in each lassie's cheeks and the lavender is the sadness in each senior's heart for the turmoil in this world. The class flower is the Premier rose, delicate reminder of our school days.

Our motto? Oh, yes, our motto is "Manana," no matter what else we may choose. "Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow"—a better world, more leisure, greater appreciation of the spiritual, who knows?

After mundane study of biology, chemistry, physics, general science, and health, and after studying all these—oh dear, all we know is Roy G. Bi RIVOLOUS favorites are these 342 juniors who are about ready to weave their last figures on that huge tapestry which constitutes their school years.

This class proudly acclaims its activity in stamp and bond sales this year. Colonel Bud French and Lieut. Colonel Shirley Goldstein, with the help of seven majors, are responsible for the enthusiasm shown by the entire high school. Their pep talks and impromptu assemblies have not only delighted but also inspired the student body.

The class has been well represented in football by Dick Guss and Benny Sites, and in basketball by Dean White, Duane Patterson, and Ollie Rankin.

In scholastic attainment the juniors have been better than the seniors. Those juniors whose names have adorned the honor roll each time are Betsy Boggs, Gene Danford, Alice Lee, Richard Miller, Harry Mangold, Sterling Obenour, Dora Jean Spragg, Roy Shiflet, Patty Shell, and Shirley Zwelling.

As these people make plain the pattern which will distinguish them as seniors let's give them a hand for a very, very profitable year, will yo

ALMOST like seniors they are! Mr. Norris Schneider is the session room teacher to these students. He has taught senior classes for so many years that seniority is now a catching disease. It is no wonder that these glowing juniors know their abc as well as xy

BECAUSE these juniors sit on stools they're no dunces. They enjoy their session room among the stuffed birds and fish aquariums in the biology laboratory. And do these fish like chewing gum! But in these wartime days gum is the unknown quantity expressed by

AN these juniors help it if their session room is used as the chief detention hall for Lash delinquents? It isn't a reflection on their good behavior, or at least we don't think it is. Until we find out about this, we will just have to let this unknown quantity equal

ELIGHTS of summer are always found on the desk of this session room. Miss Rowland's precious roses nod and smile at the students who are entitled to call it their home-room. The session room is very small so this is a great privilege enjoyed by a favored fe

INSTEINS are born, not made. So don't be afraid of these juniors just because many of Miss Grace Wigton's classes of higher mathematics are conducted in their session room. They're so accustomed to the algebraic symbols that they know that ... — is our victory

IRLS of the white-collar brigade is what they're usually called but not these junior boys and girls. They just happened to draw the typing room for their session room. Just think, they might learn the typing course without graying the hair of Misses Miller and Gif

GEARED to the highest possibilities a class can attain, these sophomores shift easily in their forward career.

Each year a new group of these bewildered apprentices are admitted to Lash to learn the intricate functionings of a high school. These sophomores have gallantly born the witty remarks of their upper classmen and in retaliation have out ranked those same juniors and seniors on the honor roll lists.

He who runs may read each report card time the names of Elizabeth Jane Beckett, Ardeth Danford, Bud Friesinger, Robert Lewis, John McConnell, Rachel Bess Martin, Peggy Murphy, Patricia Morris, Mary Frances Power, Barbara Teckemeyer, Eleanor Twiggs, and Bob Wright. In football the sophomores were represented by Bud Friesinger and in basketball by Chuck "light foot" Kinney.

The COMUS staff welcomes to Lash high school these 430 smoothly running cog wheels and hopes they find the tread mill easy enough to moun

HAVEN for the little-known and bashful ones, that's what the clubs around this school are. The clubs are all embracive. They are the units about which our social life is founded. We get together in them to talk over the many problems that confront us at school. We try to look at the other fellow's point of view and try to let him have his say. The clubs teach us how to meet people and how to get along with them in this misty old world. A girl was overheard to say, "If it weren't for the school clubs I belong to, I think that I should dislike school very much." That's the attitude of many of us. Our clubs are demonstrative of the democratic way of life. May they never stop their fine work until every student has been enrolled in the organization he best like S

Arts and Crafts

O, you say you are interested in art and handicraft? Well then, you would enjoy being a member of the Arts and Crafts Club.

Miss Beulah Thompson, the club's adviser, organized it as a working group and until the last two years the members worked in metals, leather, raffia, and plastics at its meetings. But due to the lack of these priority materials, the club has had to do other things, such as to make corsages of war stamps and to sell school pencils.

The Arts and Crafts Club meets the first and third Thursday of each month. This year's officers are Pauline Guss, Pres., John Maier, V. Pres., Bill Fowler, Sec., and Mildred Smith, Treas.

Since the members cannot get materials this year they plan on having a program for every meeting. Those on the program committee are: John Maier, Pat Lyttle, Charmaine Caw, and Don McGee.

If you really enjoy doing handicraft and listening to programs about working with your hands, you will like the Arts and Crafts Club very much.

D. O. Z.

THE Daughters of Zeus was organized in 1927. The club is composed of sixteen senior girls, eight juniors, and the faculty adviser, Miss Grace Kaplan. The officers of D.O.Z. this year are: President, Martha Cashbaugh; Vice President, Barbara Dodge; Secretary, Martha Orth; Treasurer, Kay Lovell.

At the beginning of each year the eight girls who were juniors the year before choose eight seniors and eight new juniors. In this way there is always a nucleus for the next year and a chance to honor some seniors who had been missed. The girls are then taken into the club by an hilarious initiation at school which continues into the long hours of the evening. This initiation is one that the girls will probably never forget—neither will their teachers.

The following week each girl becomes a voting Daughter after she receives her Greek name at a beautiful and impressive candlelight ceremony around the statue of Athena in the main hall of Lash. A girl must have completed two years of Latin and be approved by three-fourths of the club before she can become a member. Meetings are held twice a month first period on Monday morning. During the year the Daughters contribute money to civic projects, but the true function of D.O.Z. is to foster a very fine cultural and social standin

Devilettes

CELLING in boosting the Blue Devils accurately describes the Devilettes. They meet every Wednesday providing there isn't an assembly and there usually is. June Schenk is the President; Marian Patterson, Vice President; Charlotte Mercer, Secretary; and Pat Granger, Treasurer. In past years the Devilettes travelled to all the games where they had their own cheering sections and made the grandstand beautiful in their blue and white uniforms. But due to war conditions, they have been unable to continue with this practice. Instead blue and white "beanies" were crocheted for them and were they gay in them? An annual project of theirs is the crowning of the king and queen of hearts at an assembly Valentine's Day. It's the biggest graft in school, but the nicest. All in all the Devilettes, aside from their other activities, spent most of this year being patriotic.

Aviation

IPPEE! "Off we go into the wild blue yonder." This is the theme song of Lash's Aviation club which meets every other Tuesday to give our air-minded boys a chance to express themselves.

Each spring they hold an annual meet which is open to anyone who has a model airplane that he has constructed himself whether he is a member of the club or not.

The majority of the members are taking advantage of the flying lessons which are being given to the high school students out at Briggs' airport.

The officers this year are Don Connor, pres.; Bill Meloy, sec.; and Keith Walker, treas. Mr. James Giffen is adviser this year to the Aviation Club.

Hi-Y

NUSUAL opportunities are offered by the Hi-Y Club for the development of mind, body, and spirit. This year the Hi-Y boys have participated in the successful operation of Teen Tyme and have had charge of the printing and the distribution to the student body of the football and basketball schedules.

With the body and the mind thus satisfied, they have elevated the spirit with their chapel assemblies.

It seems a group of its members have established the I. F. T., which they said was the honorary part of the Hi-Y. It wasn't so honorary after the episode at Moore's Camp. Remember, fellows?

The officers at the beginning of the year were: Pres., Theron Mock; Vice Pres., Jack Armstrong; Sec., Jack Heck; Treas., Bill Roberts. Jack Heck moved to Kent and his place was filled by John Mast. The war took Jack Armstrong into the Coast Guard and his place was filled by John Bretz. But our country now has the services of John Bretz in the Navy. The Club decided to elect the officers for next year and let them succeed immediately to these vacancies.

The Club was well chaperoned by Mr. Perry A. Wilson and by the faculty adviser, Mr. Ellis Miracle, who looked after us and kept us out of the ruf

Fellowship

FIKINGS of Lash! What a wonderful definition for the boys of Fellowship since most of them are our star athletes. Just look at the officers—president, Sam Zoller; vice-president, Jerry Fell; secretary, Bob Raymond; and treasurer, Ed Walters. Fellowship certainly succeeds in furnishing plenty of excitement for the rest of us. There was that college party at Muskingum for one thing. On Monday morning the main hall was simply littered with broken hearts.

Mr. George Schooley, who resigned as their adviser this winter, was succeeded by Mr. Hilton Murphy. The boys have dinner meetings twice a month at the Y.M. Two special social functions were the Candlelight Party for their girls and the Stag Party for themselves. Their civic duty was accomplished when they used a great deal of elbow grease in cleaning the trophies in the cas

Ifka Junior-Senior

ANESVILLE'S Ifka Club is composed of sophomore, junior, and senior girls who desire to keep old friends, to make new ones and to be helpful to everyone.

This club is a Y.W.C.A. organization and has had as its main adviser the Younger Girls' Secretary of the Y.W., Mrs. Margaret Baker King, and her successor, Miss Ruth Lancaster. The officers are: President, Margaret Harris; 1st Vice President, Elinor Bell; 2nd Vice President, Barbara Wolfe; Secretary, Dorothy Todd; Treasurer, Susan Lyttle.

Ifka is the only club in Lash High School, that invites girls to become members regardless of their race, color, creed or grades.

At the beginning of each year every sophomore girl is given a written invitation to become a member of Ifka. After the invitations are issued, there is a tea for them given by the old members.

After the tea, an initiation meeting is planned for all new members. At this meeting the girls come dressed as little girls in pinafors, pig-tails, hair-ribbons and knee socks. At the next meeting in a very impressive and inspirational candlelight service the girls become real members of Ifk

Ifka Sophomore

IRCLED unbrokenly around the sides of the Y.W. gym, are the old members. Within this circle the new members form a triangle, the symbol of Ifka. As the triangle moves around inside the circle each girl lights her candle from the president's lighted candle. Thus she automatically becomes a member of Ifka.

Each year the club undertakes many projects. One of the most important is the cooperation each year with Hi-Y to make the "Find Yourself" campaign a success. This year Dr. Slutz from Dayton was obtained to assist the high school boys and girls in answering their questions concerning their further education, life work, and ideals.

Every year Ifka donates from its treasury to the Community Chest and to the World Fellowship fund.

There is a social side to Ifka too. The members give an informal Back-to-School dance, and in connection with D.O.Z. and Librarians, a formal Christmas ball. In the spring there is a ways a delightful banquet for the mothers, at which time the three Ideal Ifka Girls are marked by an

G. A. A.

HOPE on the G. A. A.'s! These initials stand for Girls Athletic Aides. Of this honorable organization Barbara Dodge is the Pres.; Pamela Quinby, Vice Pres.; Vivian Bales, Sec.-Treas.; Margaret Loftus is Social Chairman. The work of the G. A. A. is to help their adviser and gym teacher, Miss Kay Weber. Every day you can see these girls busying themselves with score keeping, refereeing, teaching younger girls the rules, picking up equipment, and policing lockers in the gym. They meet every other Wednesday in the Chemistry Room. This club sponsors a dance, the Annual Shamrock Shuffle, one of the most popular and profitable affairs of the school year. Another project is raising money to buy equipment for the gym which has been done by sponsoring a picture show

S. A. C.

IRLS, can you sing? Do you like music? Have you had one year of any type of music? If so, why not join the Sing Along Club? This club, organized three years ago by Miss Grace Fanton, is now under the direction of Miss Norma Riecker. The purpose of the club is for the enjoyment and better understanding of music. The present enrollment of the club is about 25 members. The girls usher for any musical programs that are given and this year had charge of the sale of Easter lilies for crippled children. They join the other clubs in sponsoring one of the three movies given during the school year. S-A-C, as it is commonly called, meets every two weeks on Thursday morning in the Radio room. Its officers are President, Peg Allen; V. President, Joy Imes; Secretary-Treasurer, Shirley Craig. They hold their selection of new members at the first of the school year. So if you love music, why don't you join the S. A. C. and give your singing career a star

Monitors

EVERY period we find at each end and at the center of each hall a Monitor who at the appearance of any student in that hall immediately calls, "Have you a slip?" And woe unto him who tries to go somewhere during school hours without that slip. If a student even turns a wistful eye toward those outside doors, a Monitor is on him saying, "And where do you think you're going?"

These students, keepers of the peace, are instrumental in catching all these skippers and truants, and yet the delinquents respect them for they know that this policing job is a difficult and necessary one. For their victories over the other fellow's wanderlust they ought to be presented with a

Friendship

LUFFY little sophomores and newcomers to Lash give praise to this organization for the welcoming hand it extends to help them over the hurdles of entering a new school.

Friendship Club was originally organized with eight members by Mrs. Lucy Harvey, Dean of Girls. This association is now composed of 44 members.

Officers serving the club this year are: Pres., LaDyne Kappes; Vice Pres., Betty Anderson; and Sec.-Treas., Wanda Craig.

At the early meetings of each year several members of the club are chosen to explain rules of the school and ways to keep up its appearance to the new girls. Also this year Mrs. Ethel Wolfe, pastor of the First Congregational Church, through the sponsorship of Friendship has given talks to girls on family life and the social adjustments necessitated by it.

The members of this club must be dependable, trustworthy, and true bl

Radio Engineers

ARD work is the only way to describe the Radio Engineers, who meet every Tuesday the first period under the advisorship of Mr. Ellis Miracle. This is an unorganized work club, having no president nor officers, but Elmer Hartmeyer is the chief engineer. They take care of all broadcasts, service the public address system, and handle any equipment which may be sent out by the school for use by civic organizations. Every Tuesday some school group produces a program, which is put on the air by the Radio Engineers.

In addition to these services, they record every historically important broadcast which comes over air. In case something happens over weekend, when none of the boys is available, poor, overworked Mr. Miracle does recording himself, in order that the student body may reap the benefits of his labor

Librarians

IN the room with all the books we find our pretty librarian misses.

These young ladies give up their study halls so that you, the student body, might be assisted while in Room 39. Miss Helen Ann Fox, who is in charge of the library, is willing at all times to direct you in finding your book. She and her assistants have a well organized plan which they follow in order that the library may run smoothly.

The Librarians hold their meetings on the first and third Mondays of each month. Various speakers and entertainers are presented.

New members are voted on by the club and the faculty. Each girl is required to work at least three periods a week. It is not necessary to have had previous experience in library work.

Cooperative Office

LUST don't know what type of office work I would like to do. Have you ever had that thought?

Perhaps the co-operative office course under the guidance of Mr. George Shai will be the answer to your problem.

Mr. Shai talks to the commercial classes at the end of their junior year. Those who are interested fill out an application which is given to Mr. Shai and checked over very carefully. Students for co-operative office are then chosen on the basis of personality and scholastic ability.

Seniors who are selected for this course carry a full academic schedule in the morning; but spend the afternoon working at their respective positions in downtown offices.

This will be the fifth year for the co-operative office course. A program such as this gives the student valuable office experience while he is still in training, as well as a regular salary for his work.

If you like this kind of work, perhaps this is the place for your I.

Cooperative Retailing

EEN is the word for Lash's retailing class, especially if you're not too keen on attending school. Students belonging to this class attend school in the mornings and work in downtown stores in the afternoon.

Seniors, only, are eligible to the class and are admitted after a personal interview with Miss Josephine Sebach, the class instructor. Students are graded on conduct, efficiency, and courtesy to the customer for which they receive a full credit. An example of their work may be seen at any time in the display case in the main hall. Each pupil is required to make two displays a year from the merchandise he sells. This program is in collaboration with the national program of distributive education under the George-Dean Act and it was introduced at Lash five years ago.

At the beginning of this year, Miss Sebach had an enrollment of 25 people, but due to service calls for the boys the enrollment in the Cooperative Retailing class has had a decided drop.

Student Senate of Lash

LINK between the students and the faculty, that's what the Student Senate of Lash is. From every session room comes a delegate and from every club comes the president to the physics room once every three weeks where, under the gavel of Ralph Russi and the guidance of Mr. Cleary, the problems of lubricating the school are discussed. The S.S. of L. is the mediating board. From its meetings the presidents return to their clubs and things just happen the way they should. Our Senate has no police power. The gentle art of persuasion is accomplished by other means than cudgelling and making him cry

Zanesvillian

ERRY but busy are these members of the staff of the Zanesvillian.

Nearly any time of the day you can see one of them running around getting choice bits of gossip here, a story there, and material for an editorial somewhere else. And they really "go to town" that one evening a week when they read proof, correct stories, and suddenly write a story which they had thought was already written. Much more credit is due to these boys and girls and to Miss Horn, their adviser, than is usually given them. Most students just take for granted the paper which they enjoy. They never think of the intelligence and the patience it takes to produce this child of the brain

Each member of the News staff is kept busy getting his material for the gossip columns and the club stories which Susan Lyttle assigns to him. In fact each reporter is always on the run with his nose on the scent of news like a good hunting dog. This staff has a name to live up to and don't think the staff members are the only busy ones. Miss Miller, their adviser, does her share of work, as she corrects English, reads proof, and plans pictures. The majority of us fail to realize the trouble and work it is to edit and print a school paper each Sunday morning and to have each time the reportorial plu

Usherettes

H! What beauties!! These are the Usherettes of Lash High School. Aren't you proud to say you know them? This club was started a few years ago. First it was only a small group of girls, but in later years it grew in size. Its present number is 16. The Usherettes are senior girls and are chosen on the basis of their personality and courtesy.

Under the benign eye of Mr. Ellis Miracle, these girls usher for school plays, chapel assemblies, and any outside activity asking for them. They decide themselves, governed by the occasion, what to wear, though they usually dress formally. The Usherettes are not a regular club as they do not elect officers, pay dues nor hold regular meetings. But aren't we lucky to have pulchritude in our school

Do you want to throw a left-handed monkey wrench into my examination?” The speaker is a member of the Aircraft Engines class of Lash’s Vocational School. His teacher is Mr. Andrew Plant. It is against the regulations of the U. Stamp and Bond Salesmen

ALESMEN here, salesmen there

Salesmen in the session rooms, salesmen on the stairs.

The Bond and Stamp Salesmen have been working hard all year to earn the right to fly the Minute Man flag each month and to reach that greater goal of a Hospital plane. They have sponsored several assemblies for the sale of stamps. At one assembly the Mayor promised us a dance if the students would raise an average of $37.50 before the teachers raise an average of $100. We don't know how the contest came out, so fill it in for yourself.

The salesmen have been greatly handicapped by working as part of the city division instead of as a separate unit and are allowed to sell only certain series of bonds. This is good training for years to come and one finds that the salesmen of junior year make responsible members of senior committees at Las INDUSTRY, intelligence, and beauty of personality have their own rewards. This year the COMUS staff introduces in the year book a new section to pay homage to those especially honored throughout the year. Before the first report card is received, Lash chooses the Homecoming Queen and her attendants. Charming manners plus a democratic attitude with a dash of good looks are required to reach this popularity. The King and Queen of Hearts are chosen by buying valentines which are then addressed to your choice. COMUS staff thinks that these titles are popular honors and in the groups below has given you first, the Homecoming Queen, Margaret Harris; her senior attendant, Patty Leffler; the junior maids of honor, Marilyn Morgan and Bonnie Barnes; the sophomore lady in waiting, Nancy Wells; and second, the Queen of Hearts, Florence Orr, and the King, Sam Zoller.

National Honor Society

NDER the word "Honor" should be listed the names of the seniors in the picture above.

Mr. M. M. Mansperger was the principal who obtained the charter for our Honor Society. This is a national organization and we have been a member since 1927. The first group had sixteen members, eight boys and eight girls. Last year there were thirty members, ten boys and twenty girls. The national requirements state that for a student to be eligible he must be in the upper third of his class; the entire faculty must vote upon him and must keep in mind how the student rates in scholarship, service, leadership, and character. The national constitution states that not more than 15% of the class may be chosen for the Honor Society.

We are submitting for your cogitation the following names chosen at random from the lists for the first ten years: Elizabeth Denner (Mrs. Nathan Woodhull), substitute teacher for the duration; John Allen, Zanesville attorney; Paul Freyburg, missionary; Josephine Gitter, ceramic engineer on W. P. B. in Washington, D. C.; Paul Brown, linguist; Max Metcalf and Eugene Lamiman, Annapolis graduates; Doris DeLong (Mrs. Herman Baker) mortician; Jack Mullens, army chaplain; Martha Brush, Red Cross Worker abroad; Elizabeth Swingle, Arizona State Teachers College; Sara Geist, college librarian; and Charles Irven, teacher. Every Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday morning, the first period, if nothing else is in the auditorium, the savage beast in each boy and girl at Lash is soothed by the sweet strains of music breathing forth from the auditorium.

The orchestra is not so well known to the city of Zanesville as other school musical organizations, because it plays only for class plays and commencement exercises when our minds are on something other than music. As to that joke about being paid for their services, the orchestra just says, "A

KIT Cornell's Kids. That's what they're called. The Speech and Dramatics Classes meet the 8th and 9th periods respectively every day in the Auditorium. Under the direction of Miss Marie E. Mill, "Maw" to her kids, the groups have undertaken various tasks during the year such as putting on the class plays. The first was that sparkling comedy of adolescence, "Junior Miss." We all remember the fine portrayal Shirley Craig gave of Judy, the spoiled daughter. Then an all girl cast presented "Cry Havoc" with great feeling. Miss Mill undertook something new with her juniors. She selected two casts for "Spring Green." They vied brilliantly with each other before capacity audiences seated in reserve seats. LITTLE ONES, take notice! This was your play, excellently presented by the senior dramatics class on Wednesday, November 22, promptly at 8:15 P. M. in Lash's auditorium. "Junior Miss", a comedy in three acts by Jerome Chodorov and Joseph Fields, was acted by Wesley Wolf as Harry Graves, the father; Mary B. Taylor, Grace Graves, the mother; La Dyne Kappes, Lois, the elder sister; Shirley Craig, Judy or Junior Miss; Patty Roberts, Fluffy Adams, the girl from the apartment below; George Singleton, J. B. Curtis, the boss of Mr. Graves; Vivian Bales, J. B.'s charming daughter, Ellen; George Judy, the brother of Mrs. Graves, Willis Reynolds; John Bretz, Barlow Adams; James McLaughlin, the telegraph boy; William Roberts, Joe, the elevator boy; Helen Smith, Hilda, the maid; William Wiggin, Ed Walter, Gilbert Brooks, Bob Burlingame, Bob Derry, David Stoneburner as, respectively, Merrill Feurbach, Sterling Brown, Albert Kunody, Tommy Arbuckly, Charles, Henry, the men in Lois's life; and Richard Ryan as Haskell Cummings, the man in Judy's life. All the scenes took place in Judy's home during the Christmas holidays.

Miss Marie E. Mill was the director, as she is for all the dramatics and she was aided by Mary Jo Greene, John Bretz, Harry Mangold, Jim McLaughlin and Dick Heitz. Mrs. Douglas Hetzler, conducted the school orchestra in special numbers. Dramatists Play Service released the play for production and in the fur coats loaned from Bintz Bros., "Junior Miss" made the stag line gasp, "Hell

On Friday, January 19, regular time, regular place, with the regular director and musical program, a most irreproachable production of Allan R. Kenward's moving drama of the war in 1942 was given by the girls of the senior dramatics class. The three acts were laid in a converted gun emplacement adjacent to Bataan Peninsula.. The make-up was applied by the members of the class who were not in the play. The stage crew, who had a difficult job to do, was composed of Vivian Bales, George Judy, Harry Mangold, Jeanne Lewis, Dick Ryan, Ed Walters, and Mary Jo Greene. FEW and fresh was "Spring Green" by Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements. The junior speech classes presented this three-act comedy on April 5 and 6 in Lash auditorium, under Miss Mill's direction. The senior dramatics class did the make-up; the publicity was written by Mary Amos, Alice Bone, Pat Lytle and Harriet Matson. The stage and property crews had for members Gladys Adams, Louise Ballenger, Margaret Borst, Mary Bradley, Glana Hammer, Marjorie Hendershot, Jeanne Lewis, Joan Moorehead, Naomi Reed, Pat Shaw, and Barbara Tennant. The same costumer and publisher were patronized as in "Cry Havoc."

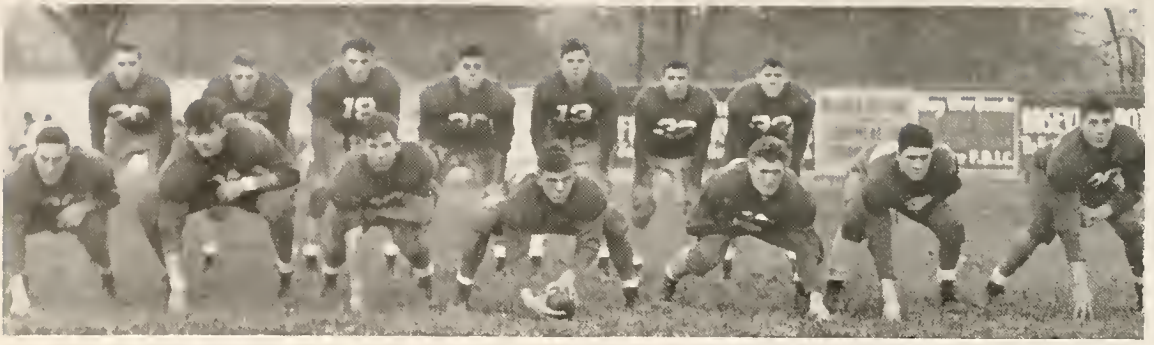

Two casts, except for three exceptions, cavorted in the playroom of the Cassell house in Elmwood. The first named junior played on Thursday, the second on Friday, as follows: Nina Cassell, a charming widow, Barbara Pugh, Mary Westbrook; Mrs. Rumble, the cook, Harriet Matson, Patty Shell; Scootie Cassell, the younger daughter, Nancy Smith, Shirley Goldstein; Grandpaw Putnam, Ed Walters, Jim Rose; Tony Cassell, the heroine, Patty Clapper, Shirley Zwelling; Pinkie Ames, the girl friend, Dorothy Culbertson, Virginia Johnson; Dunk Doyle, the local heart throb, Bob Burlingame, Jim McLaughlin; Bing Hotchkiss, everybody's friend, Harry Mangold; Genevieve Jones, little neighbor, Marilyn Butler, Peggy Cain; Major Todd, U. S. Engineer, David Stoneburner; T. Newton Todd, interested in earth worms, Roy Shifflet; Eula Hotchkiss, the "dea ex machina", Bonnie Barnes, Pat Summers; Dr. Luther Blodgett, from Texas, Gilbert Brooks, Bob Hartmeyer; Officer Ryan, Bob Derry, Harry Miller; Billy, by David Westenbarger, who, for this occasion, was in perfect for

LASHES from a whip could not be more startling than the plays developed by our athletes under the direction of Mr. Joseph Austin. Our track record for the spring of 1944 whipped our expectations into a frenzy when the football season opened. Then we got three licks that hurt. During the basketball period we salved our feelings until recovery was imminent. Then Canton McKinley gave us a blow over the heart. We took it like a Norseman, bloody but unbowed. It would be beef steak on the eyes of our opponents and vitamins in our blood stream to have their scores for a season add up to

It's not often, Mr.
Austin,
That we have a coach
like you,
Though we know there
may be others,
Yet for us, our dads,
and mothers,
There's but one, and that is you.
Please don't soften, Mr.
Austin,
Now the end is drawing
near,
For our sisters, and our brothers,
And a hundred million
others,
Will be there to cheer.

You're a wise old chap
Who for us will scrap
When the referee gets bad.
And further more,
We feel sorry for any big bully
That gets you mad.
It's not often, Mr.
Austin,
Lash has had a coach
like you.
So the entire popula-

Reserves

Serving as back-field coach, Hilton Murphy has made an enviable place for himself. He is a Lash graduate, an alumnus of Muskingum College, and an ex-soldier.

Harold Slack has been particularly successful in training track men. During football season, the line had him as a forceful coach.

SURELY no year book would be complete without the Varsity scores which are as follows:

Sept. 15, at home, Zanesville 19; Columbus Aquinas 7.
 Sept. 22, at home, Zanesville 28; Columbus East 7.
 Sept. 29, away, Zanesville 34; Chillicothe 0.
 Oct. 6, at home, Zanesville 46; Marietta 0.
 Oct. 13, away, Zanesville 13; Dover 13.
 Oct. 20, at home, Zanesville 0; Coshocton 6.
 Oct. 27, away, Zanesville 43; Cambridge 9.
 Nov. 3, at home, Zanesville 0; Newark 27.
 Nov. 10, at home, Zanesville 20; Lancaster 7.

NEVER failing to support Lash High School in its various enterprises, are the advertisers in COMUS. They are as much interested in "COMUS" as we are. The students are familiar sights in the merchants' stores and the two groups have become friends. Most of these patrons attended Lash High School and they know how much "COMUS" means to the students. And so each year they try to be as co-operative as possible. We wish to thank them for their splendid generosity, and we urge the students, as they search in these pages for the Calendar, to give a glance to the advertisements so that they may patronize our friends. - 9—X-citing game as Austin's men beat Dover in second game of tournament. Only one to go now.
- 10—Your own Blue Devils knock over New Philly in thrilling overtime game and come home with the trophy for being District champs.
- 12—Zip your lip and don't tell if you know who the new officers are of the future Senior class. It's against our religion to mention Juniors in this "Calendar."
- 15—At last, Honor Society announced and COMUS goes to press. Uppps, mistake on that last statement.
- 16—Blue Devils take first game in regional tournament here.
- 17—Clash with Canton McKinley eliminates us. Orchids to our basketball team, bless 'em!
- 19—Do tell! Two dozen pink carnations for Miss Higgins and she doesn't know from whom they came. Do you?
- 21—Everyone was present at Ifka. The school year is nearly gone when it's time for nominations again.

APRIL, 1945

- 11—Movie! "General Died at Dawn."
11—Noted merchants are banqueted by Lash's Cooperative-Retailing Class in the Minuet Room of the Rogge. The theme was our town.
13—On Saturday night was the Librarian's annual sport dance, "April Showers"—and they weren't kidding, either.
14—Pupils nearing home stretch.
18—Quack! Quack! Ducks are a sign of spring. Ifka elected officers.
23—Rain and more rain in the month of April! D. O. Z. elected officers.
28—Six, or maybe sixteen, new members elected for next year's COMUS staff.

L' Endoi

We close this book on our life at school,
The school that gave us many a rule.
Some days we tried to do our best;
Some days we tried to be a pest.
We send this COMUS out to you,
And hope it meets your approval true.
